

Asad

Phase 3.5

I'm currently doing pretty well on my project. Before when I submitted Phase 3, it had code that wasn't exactly working as the tutorial had old code that didn't work. I set out that my final phase would fix this code and then turn it into a mobile/desktop app. I believe the hardest part of this project is figuring out the tensor flow code that was broken, and I have since been able to figure out and even simplify the code to get it working. All I need to do now is turn it into an app, which I'm confident I can figure out!